

LITTLE HOPE FOR MCCUNE'S VICTIM

Mrs. Amanda C. Shaw Lies at Hospital in Valley of Shadow.

WOMAN BLAMES DRIVER

In Signed Statement Mrs.
Shaw Declares Car Crushed
Her Against Pole.

The condition of Mrs. Amanda C. Shaw, aged 22 years, wife of T. R. Shaw, an employee of the Troy laundry, 115 East Eighth South street, who sustained a broken back, Saturday night as the result of being struck by an automobile driven by A. W. McCune, Jr., still remains unchanged and the attending physicians hold out no hope for the injured woman's life. It was intended that an operation be performed upon the patient yesterday morning, but she was considered to be too weak.

Mrs. Shaw made a dying statement yesterday morning at the suggestion of S. M. Barlow, chief of police, in which she placed the blame for the accident upon McCune.

A. W. McCune, Jr., son of a multimillionaire, ate his Christmas dinner yesterday in the city jail with the vagabond, the drunk and the felon.

McCune Still in Jail.

He continues to be held in the city jail on an open charge pending a change in the condition of Mrs. Shaw. Although evidence looking to the release of McCune on bonds were made to the chief of police and the county attorney yesterday morning by relatives of McCune, no action was taken in the matter and the bonds were refused.

E. L. Wilcox, county attorney, said last night that in the event of the death of Mrs. Shaw, McCune will, in all probability, be declared with manslaughter.

Mrs. Shaw made the following statement at the Groves L. D. S. hospital yesterday morning:

"Statement of Mrs. Amanda C. Shaw, made this 25th day of December, 1911, in the presence of Mr. J. E. Lynch, Mr. Herman Bauer, Mr. Angus M. Cannon, Jr., Dr. Harold L. Smith, Mr. J. B. Shaw, Mrs. Angus Lutz, et al., about 8:30 a. m.:

"We got the car on Second South and State, at half-past 11. It was about 20 minutes to 12 when this happened. It knocked off my arm and my leg. I was all broken. Bert's arms were full of bones. This was up at Eighth South and Seventh East. They got me jammed in the pole."

Car Running Fast.

"There were four of us got off the car. Mrs. Elsie Leslie and Walter Green. Bert and I waited until the car went by. We stayed until the car passed on to go around the street. Bert ran around the pole. Bert was a little bit ahead of me. I saw the automobile on the opposite side of the street. I stood there. I thought it was going up the street. It was going down the street. It was going straight north. They cut across the track like they were going to scare me. The automobile ran right at me."

The statement was signed by Mrs. Shaw and by Angus M. Cannon, Jr., Mr. Lutz and Dr. Harold L. Smith as witnesses.

Mrs. Shaw was injured at the corner of Seventh East and Eighth South streets at about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. Accompanied by her husband, she left a Wagonville car.

McCune, accompanied by Dan McGuire, a saloon keeper, and two other men, the names of whom he does not know, was driving in a second-hand touring car northward on the east side of Seventh East street.

Mr. Shaw saw the car approaching at a rate of forty miles an hour, he says, and ran to the east side of the street. According to her statement, Mrs. Shaw attempted to elude the automobile, remaining in the center of the street. She was struck by the machine and knocked against a pole. Her spine was fractured at the joint of the eleventh rib and two ribs were broken. Mr. Shaw says that McCune appeared to be intoxicated.

QUIET WEDDING AT HOTEL UTAH

Last night at 7:30 o'clock, in suite 602 at the Hotel Utah, Miss Lillian Johnson of 745 Linden avenue, city, was married to G. M. King of Chicago. Mr. King has been for two years a stenographer for the Levitt shoe company, and Mr. King is now a traveling salesman in the department of The Hub department store in Chicago.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. F. Butts of the Emmanuel Baptist church in the presence of the bride's family and about seventy guests. L. E. Butts of Chicago, brother of the bride, acted as best man, and Miss Esther O. Johnson, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. A wedding supper was served after the ceremony.

The occasion was in the nature of a double celebration, for Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, the bride's parents, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. King will go to Chicago within a few days.

HANDSOME UMBRELLA GIVEN TO RALEIGH

The employees of the department of streets and irrigation met yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the city and county auditorium for a social gathering. Presenting their chief, J. T. Raleigh, with a fine gold-handled umbrella as a Christmas memento, was an emblem of the Order of Moose, of which Mr. Raleigh is a member.

The presentation was made by J. P. Keate, who, in a neat speech, expressed the sentiments of the employees toward the head of the department. Mr. Raleigh responded with an excellent little speech, expressing his thanks for the gift.

YULETIDE CHEER AT COMMERCIAL CLUB

Open house was held at the Commercial club yesterday for members and their friends, and many took advantage of the opportunity for social intercourse. An excellent lunch and beer were served in the buffet, and from 1 to 3 p. m. a special Christmas party was given. Music was furnished by the Roman Holiday string quartet.

Charged With Robbery.

William Harrington, aged thirty-one years, was arrested at the Sanitation bath on West Third South street yesterday by Patrolman Wickel on a charge of robbery. It is alleged that Harrington stole $5 from the pocket of Bert Sheridan while Sheridan was in the swimming pool and while his clothes were in a dressing room.

Wakeful Funeral Wednesday.

The funeral of Mrs. Rhoda C. Walker, aged thirty years, who died December 21 of blood poisoning, will be held at noon Wednesday from the Poplar Grove meeting house. Interment will be in the city cemetery.

EVEN THE POOREST ARE PROVIDED FOR

Salvation Army and Volunteers Do Noble Work in Aiding Destitute.

Having spread their Christmas cheer with unselfish hands among the destitute of the city on Saturday and Sunday, the kindly men and women of the Salvation Army and the Volunteers of America passed in their labors yesterday for a well earned rest and for their own bit of celebration.

The enormous distribution of Christmas dinner baskets on the two preceding days had almost exhausted the bounteous stores these two institutions had gathered weeks in advance, and that they just about met the needs of the city's poor, temporarily at least, was shown by the fact that a scant half dozen persons called at the mission houses yesterday for baskets that had failed to reach them before.

These were readily provided for with what could be found in the storehouses, and nobody was turned away.

It was going on a cold Saturday night, and the volunteers of America, in the going straight north, they cut across the track like they were going to scare me. The automobile ran right at me."

The statement was signed by Mrs. Shaw and by Angus M. Cannon, Jr., Mr. Lutz and Dr. Harold L. Smith as witnesses.

Mrs. Shaw was injured at the corner of Seventh East and Eighth South streets at about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. Accompanied by her husband, she left a Wagonville car.

McCune, accompanied by Dan McGuire, a saloon keeper, and two other men, the names of whom he does not know, was driving in a second-hand touring car northward on the east side of Seventh East street.

Mr. Shaw saw the car approaching at a rate of forty miles an hour, he says, and ran to the east side of the street. SALVATION ARMY COMES TO POOR CHILDREN

Through Work of Salvation
Army Destitute Little Ones
Are Happy.

MANY HUNDRED GIFTS

Scene at Hall as Presents Are Distributed Is One
For Artist.

A prettier, more worthy climax to the splendid Christmas work of the Salvation Army could hardly have been planned than the Christmas tree carnival given to gladden the hearts of the poor children of the poor. The army hall on East Second South street last night.

Nearly four hundred of the little tots, bearing upon their little faces the marks of poverty and want, stared the cold, damp snow from their poorly clad faces and stood in eager, half-bestirring, into the dingy old hall. But the dinginess was gone with their coming, and in its place shone the wondrous light of the Christmas spirit, multiplied four hundred fold in their little hearts and reflected from four hundred pairs of shining eyes that gazed and leaped in the bewildering ecstasy of childhood made supremely happy.

Well-Laden Trees.

Two big, shining Christmas trees stood on the grand, eagle-laden with gifts that the boughs bent towards the floor under the weight. Each tree was a blaze of shimmering light, glowing through the thistle tangle of hundreds of ornaments, more precious to the eyes of children than the most costly jewels, and gifts scattered about the base of the trees.

After a merry programme of singing and reciting, with songs and games, the simple worship included in the true spirit of the day, the happy boys and girls were allowed to come forward to the stand and receive their gifts.

Such was the careful thought of the army officials that each gift bore the name of the child to whom it was intended. There were even gifts for some children who were not present. These gifts were carried to the children by the army officials, and the fun went on.

Some were for sick and bed-ridden children, and these gifts were especially elaborate.

D. S. Slater had charge of the distribution, assisted by a half dozen members of the local corps. As each child received his gift, he was given a message of goodwill, and a good proportion of the messages went to points outside of the state.

ORPHANS ARE GIVEN DELIGHTFUL TREAT

Little Folks at Kearns-St. Ann's Institution Royally Entertained.

MASSSES ALSO ARE HELD
Sunday and Monday Filled
With Joy for Unfortunate Children.

"Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto Me." Surely if these words of Christ ever seem to be beautifully true, it is in the glow and sweetness of Christmas day when the gentle spirit of love among the fatherless and motherless at the table and the tree that speak the season's joy.

The Yuletide spirit abounded in all its glory at the Kearns-St. Ann's orphanage Sunday and yesterday. More than 100 young hearts were made full in the joy and happiness of a Christmas celebration, partaking of its many pleasures and gathering in the bounteous flow of love and goodwill.

From the moment when Sister Martin and her associate sisters of the Holy Cross opened the doors of the institution until the crowning feast, that has been an annual delight to the orphan children here, and Mrs. Thomas Kearns, founder of the institution, the sight was one to warm and gladden any heart.

Sunday was Christmas-ree day. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the expectant children gathered in the exhibition hall of the institution, where the festive green had been set up amidst a blaze of shimmering light, radiated from many candles and electric lights, and the air was filled with the fragrance of flowers and the soft music of the organ.

The tree was a mass of sparkling tinsel and decorative articles of every description, stacked high, containing three or four hundred gifts, and the children, who were made full in the joy and happiness of a Christmas celebration, partaking of its many pleasures and gathering in the bounteous flow of love and goodwill.

At the foot of the tree, the children were seated in rows, and the gifts were distributed to them by the Sisters of the Holy Cross, who were made full in the joy and happiness of a Christmas celebration, partaking of its many pleasures and gathering in the bounteous flow of love and goodwill.
